Part II: Bill Provisions and the Estimated Fiscal Impact Relating to Local Government

HB 498 would propose to amend Section 29 of the Constitution of Kentucky to establish the initiative power of the people to propose laws and to enact or reject proposed initiatives at an election, establish procedures for initiatives and the effect of adopted initiatives, and set parameters for the subject of any initiative.

By the language of the bill and as allowed by Kentucky Constitution Section 256, the proposed amendment would be submitted to the voters at the next regular election at which members of the General Assembly are chosen and in a year in which there is no election for the President and Vice President of the United States. This means that the proposed amendment would be considered in November 2022.

The costs of HB 498 to local governments due to adding a constitutional amendment to a ballot would be minimal. Based on information received in early 2020 from Harp Enterprises, a vendor that provides electronic voting machines to almost 100 Kentucky counties, there are additional programming costs associated with adding a new constitutional amendment to the ballot on an already scheduled statewide election. For example, the cost to add a new category to the ballot for Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, with 286 precincts, was estimated at between $3,500 and $4,500, and for Franklin County, with 44 precincts, the cost was estimated at between $1,700 and $2,500.

There could be additional costs associated with extra paper (if the ballot language requires additional space) for paper ballots and absentee voting. It has been estimated that the cost of one extra page for a single ballot is $0.25, depending on the county's printing contract. Therefore, the total cost would depend on the number of paper ballots that would need the extra page.
